

Change of Trustee for The Corporate Superannuation Master Trust

Following a comprehensive review of The Corporate Superannuation Master Trust (CSMT), Legg Mason Asset Management Australia Limited (Legg Mason), as Trustee, determined that members were best served by transitioning the trusteeship of CSMT to a leading specialist superannuation trustee; one that is better positioned to deliver enhanced services, administration and benefits.

After a rigorous review of all major superannuation providers in Australia, Legg Mason selected ING Custodians Pty Limited (ING) as the new trustee, taking effect on 1 November 2008.

Why ING?

Legg Mason chose ING because of its strength and experience in managing the retirement savings of 1 in 15 Australians. ING is also one of Australia's leading financial services and insurance providers, with over $45 billion in assets under management. Legg Mason believes ING offered the best superannuation solution for members and employers of CSMT and that it will continue to enhance the level of service and features for members into the future.

What will happen and do customers need to do anything?

As previously communicated to all members and employers of The Corporate Superannuation Master Trust, ING Custodians Pty Limited became trustee on 1 November 2008. This transition process will be completed seamlessly and easily, with little impact upon each member, as:

- All features and benefits will presently remain the same, including insurance
- All customer service contact points remain the same
- All contributions and benefits will be paid as before
